Annette Talks on How to Be More Healthy

Lectures at Y. W. C. A. Auditorium to Many Women, Who Fill the Hall.

Though the stage of the Young Women's Christian Association auditorium, with its elegant interior and green silk furnishings was somewhat dim for a background, the lecture which Miss Annette Kelleman, the young swimmer from Australia, gave there Thursday morning was quite too interesting for the dimly lit room.

tion to the fact that the mahogany table was "frigidly slippery" as a place on which to do gymnastic stunts. This difficulty was overcome, however, and the young yachswoman headliner told the large company of young women from the business world how to make their daily routine the source of greater enjoyment by making themselves healthier and happier by reason of their health, and illustrated by giving a series of health exercises. She emphasized at the beginning of the talk that her "chief aim" was to give the audience a series of exercises, and the audience seemed to reciprocate the interest. The audience, however, included both the very youngest members, cash girls, who curried their "morning" to the secretary of the association, business women and directors of the association.
